

SEEKING EDUCATORS for our in-person summer programs

We are hiring teaching artists, counselors, and support staff for our 2021 summer programs. We expect that members of the team will prioritize anti-racism in their personal and professional practice and have a working understanding of culturally responsive teaching, trauma-informed pedagogy, and social emotional support. Additional training will be available, but a basic knowledge of these concepts is important to our team. We prioritize fun, the joy of creating, and collaboration, and we want staff who share these values. Our counselors and teaching artists are the lifeblood of these programs and will shape the experience as we launch our new and exciting camps.

Trinity Repertory Company is an equal opportunity employer dedicated to building a culturally diverse, equitable, and antiracist environment.

Please send a resume and brief description of why you are interested in the position to education@trinityrep.com. Indicate the title of the position(s) in the subject line of your email.
